Are you new to a teaching role? Interested in medical education? Looking to establish a career that includes clinical teaching or pondering a career pivot?

Then join us for the Inaugural Bootcamp for Clinical Teachers, a Center for Education-sponsored event representing a collaboration between the BIDMC Academy and the offices of GME and UME. We are calling all early career faculty and senior residents and fellows to join us for an in-person event on Thursday, November 3, 2022 from 4:30-7:30pm to develop fundamental teaching skills at the bedside, feedback and working with struggling learners, and teaching on the fly. You will also have an opportunity to build community, network, meet with educational leaders at BIDMC, enjoy comfort foods, and gain a perspective about the inner workings of education at BIDMC and HMS.

Reflections

BIDMC Academy Celebrates Women in Medicine Month

On September 29, the BIDMC Academy celebrated Women in Medicine Month with a virtual visit from Dr. Judith L. Bowen. Dr. Bowen, a Professor and Associate Dean for Curriculum at the Floyd College of Medicine, Washington State University, discussed the impact of frequent transitions on learning through practice, addressing trust, emotion, and teamwork as important concepts for bridging discontinuity to improve clinical reasoning and patient care.

BIDMC Academy Fall Retreat/Kick-off

The BIDMC Academy held its Fall Retreat/Kick-off – Building Community through Interprofessional Education Session on Friday, September 23, 2022. Thank you to all who attended our kick-off.

In follow up to your retreat we are excited to announce the formation of the Interprofessional Education innovation (IPE) group, given the importance to clinical excellence across the medical center and career development for our community.

If you are interested in joining, please email Kelly Anastasio
